What is Meetup?

The power of self-organized groups

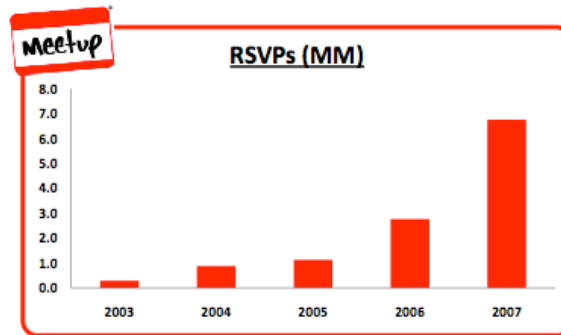

Meetup was founded with the mission of revitalizing local community and helping people around the world self-organize. Meetup believes that people can change their personal world, or the whole world, by organizing themselves into groups that are powerful enough to make a difference.

Meetup helps people...

- Find others in their area who share their interests
- Learn, teach, and share things
- Make friends and have fun
- Rise up, stand up, unite, and make a difference
- Be a part of something bigger—both locally and globally

The Power of Groups

Meetup is the world's largest network of local groups. Meetup makes it easy for anyone to organize a local group or find one of the thousands already meeting up face-to-face. More than 2,000 groups get together in local communities each day, each one with the goal of improving themselves or their communities.

The Power of Local

Meetup believes that local groups can create a real impact on local communities. Meetup groups exist in over 4000 cities and 100 countries, making it a truly local and global phenomenon. Meetup members are creating impact in their communities via activism, volunteerism, social interaction and just good clean fun.

“Our Meetup group brings moms together for friendship, fun, and support. Everyone benefits from shared tips, advice, and resources. It has absolutely changed my life.”

Deborah, Organizer

Frequently Asked Questions:

Q: How does Meetup differ from social and other group sites?

A: Meetup is solely focused on getting people together for face-to-face interaction to create local community. Most other sites are focused on online interactions and keeping in contact with people.

Q: How does Meetup make money?

A: The majority of the revenue comes from Meetup organizers who pay a fee to use the platform. Meetup also generates revenue from advertising and sponsorships.
